

METHODIST COLLEGE, BELFAST

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

PROUD MOMENT AS BELFAST FIRM COMPLETES ICONIC PROJECT DURING MILESTONE ANNIVERSARY YEAR...

Electrical engineering specialists, JD McGeown Ltd carried out the full electrical installation to the prestigious Methodist College renovation project.

As with most construction projects, coordination and programming were key to a successful delivery, however due to the building's listed status, a sensitive approach to the existing architecture and structure was also required, as David Geddis, Senior Projects Manager for JD McGeown explained, "This was a major conservation project which created its own unique challenges, but thanks to a concerted effort from all members of our team we delivered a future-proof electrical installation for this iconic, 19th century, Belfast landmark.

"Students and teachers will benefit from the state-of-the-art audio visual systems which will greatly enhance their modern day education experience."

JD McGeown manages expansive projects like this across all industry sectors. Clients appreciate the simplicity, ease of management and cost efficiencies gained through engaging with them as a single, specialised contractor delivering bespoke, end-to-end solutions.

Formed in 1961, this is JD McGeown's 60th anniversary year and it's fitting that the completion of such a prestigious local project marks this milestone for the business.

James McGeown, Managing Director said, "As a Belfast business, it has been a hugely proud moment for us to be so deeply involved in the restoration of such an iconic education establishment in the city. It's a big credit to everybody involved who have worked incredibly hard during a very difficult time period to get this project over the line in time for the new school year."
